

ABSTRACT

BARBEQUE GRILL CLEANER

An apparatus is provided for cleaning rungs of a barbeque grill. The apparatus includes a forked cleaning end with proximal and distal portions. The apparatus also includes an elongate portion having first and second ends, wherein the second end
5 terminates substantially at the proximal portion of the cleaning end. The apparatus facilitates cleaning of substantially the entire external surface area (top, sides, and underside) of an individual rung of the grill without having to disassemble the grill or unduly manipulate the apparatus in uncomfortable orientations.